Is anxiety getting in the way of your life and the things you enjoy? Do you feel like you worry too much, and are unable to let things go? Do you feel overwhelmed by anxiety and maybe even panic attacks? St. Joseph's Counseling Center is offering a Healing Anxiety Class starting in early 2019. In a small and confidential class setting, you will learn how to better understand your anxiety and how to overcome it. The 6 bi-weekly class sessions will take place at the Catholic Charities Oklahoma City office on Tuesday evenings from 5:15pm-6:30pm. An individual intake session is required to attend the class. Space is limited to a first come, first serve basis so contact our office at (405) 524-0969 today!

Thank you for all that each of you do for Catholic Charities.

City Planning Department

The City of Oklahoma Planning Department is working together with our community partners to coordinate the City's Winter Shelter Contingency Plan. This plan is triggered when the National Weather Service forecasts the temperature to be 32 degrees or below, resulting in local homeless shelters opening their overflow beds for those seeking to get out of the freezing weather. We are working to distribute the information as widely as possible in the metro area so that all who need the resource are aware. Attached to this email are a 11x17 poster and 8.5x11 flyer with the information, we would appreciate it if you could either distribute or display in your Food Pantry or other area so those who make use of your services could benefit from it, if needed.

If you have questions or would like further information my contact information is below or you can reach my supervisor, Jerod Shadid at jerod.shadid@okc.gov.
